$328,954 Sealcoating Set in Three Counties

Contractor Jeff Richards and Son of Belton will begin work July 23 on his $328,954.20 contract covering the sealcoat resurfacing of highways in Navarro, Ellis and Kaufman Counties.

Richards, who has 60 working days for completion, announced his starting date at a pre-construction safety meeting Wednesday in the office of Supervising Resident Jack London at the Texas Highway Department office here. Purpose of the meeting was to secure closer cooperation between the contractor, law enforcement agencies and highway department personnel in promoting safety on the construction projects and safer driving practicathrough the limits the projects.

Work consists of re-surfacing of approximately 59 miles in Ellis County, 50 miles in Kaufman County and 75 miles in Navarro County. The highways or portions of highways to be sealed in the summer maintenance program include by counties: Ellis County-FM 878, FM916, FM1493, FM 875, FM 308, FM983, FM876, FM 1181, FM 1446 and FM 1182; Kaufman County-State Highway 34 north of Terrell, SH 198, FM 90, FM 429, FM 148, FM 3094, FM 1392, FM 2515, FM 3039, and FM 3095; Navarro County—IH 45 (shoulders), State Highway 31 (shoulders), FM 709, FM 636, FM 1129, FM 1838 and FM 1946.

The contractor said he will begin work in Navarro County July 23 and will then proceed to Ellis and then Kaufman County and should complete the work by Aug. 31.

Resident Engineer London said the highways to be sealcoated will remain open to traffic at all time, but traffic may be delayed for a short time where actual work in in progress. Adequate barricades and warning signs will be displayed during the construction, he added.

The resident engineer warns that motorists should be cautious at all times in the construction areas as trucks and construction equipment will be on the roads.

Any unsafe conditions observed on the projects by motorists should be reported to London's office in Corsicana, to to the contractor or the Department of Public Safety, Highway Patrol.

Jeff Richards and Joe Richards represented the contractor while the Highway Department was represented at the session by London, Raymond L. Henry and Robert L. Watkins.

Corsicana Shopping For Fuel for 73-74

By BETTY JEAN CLAY City Editor

Corsicana has begun "shopping" for its next year's supply of gasoline and diesel early to keep its many vehicles moving in the light of the current energy shortage.

Acting City Manager Dick Ballenger said he is seeking bids early this year for two reasons, to nail down a supply and to get some cost figures incorporated into planning the 1973-74 budget beginning Oct.

The City is advertising for bids to be received July 18 for its annual supply of petroleum products-gas, diesel, motor oils and lubricants.

"Our contract with Mobil for gas and diesel doesn't expire until September, but Mobil wasn't able to furnish all the gas we were going to need for this year," Ballenger said, adding that the City had been "very fortunate" in being able to buy gas from outside sources to make up the difference.

IN SOLICITING BIDS in 1972 for the current year's needs, Ballenger had estimated gas requirements at 175,000 gallons, but the successful bidder, Mobil. wasn't able to guarantee delivery of more than 105,000 gallons, he said.

The City never knows exactly how much fuel it is going to need but estimates projected usage and seeks bids from suppliers for "unit prices" on basis of an "annual supply" calculated on what consumption has been in past years and allowing for increased needs.

Corsicana's biggest users of gasoline, he pointed out, are the police squad cars which patrol the City 24 hours a day every day and the sanitation department vehicles in their day-to-day collection of garbage and other refuse. There are many other departmental vehicles, and motorized heavy equipment, but their use of fuel is not as great, he noted.

"We may not get a single bid," he acknowledged, expressing hope this won't be the case, since Corsicana has been a consistent and long-time user of a fuel supply and local dealers are familiar with this as bidders. If no bids are received July 18, Acting City Manager Ballenger said he then will be faced with contacting the suppliers asking if they can furnish the City's needs on an order basis, rather than a contract for firm delivery at a firm price.

Police Investigating Third Rape Case Here

A young Corsicana mother of Memorial Hospital where she three small children was was examined by a doctor, and reported raped in the early Chief Massey carried her back morning hours Monday, and home while other officers Police Chief Don Massey said contacted her husband as he he believes she was the third was going on his job. He said the victim in a month-s time of a burglar-rapist for whom an intensive search has been pressed since mid-June.

The 23-year-old woman, a resident of southwest Corsicana, reported the attack occurred between 2 and 3 a.m. today, but she was afraid to leave the house to call police until it began getting daylight about 6:30 a.m.

Massey said the time lag in getting the report of the latest sexual assault put officers at a disadvantage but added "We've got one lead we are working on now."

Chief Massey said the woman saw the man "in silhouette" and gave the same general description of the rapist as the two previous victims, but not 'as good."

The woman told officers the man entered her home forcibly while her husband was away and threatened to kill her or her young children if she cried out.

"She said she screamed but no one heard her, and he put a sheet over her head and told her if she screamed again he would kill her." Chief Massey said the assailant had pulled a screen loose from a front window that was raised and entered the house, going to the bedroom where the woman and her three children, ranging in age from "about three to under one year," slept in two beds. Police carried the woman to

Traffic Safety Group Eyes Cycles, Railroad Crossings

By GARY EDMONDSON Sun Staff Writer

A slate of officers and the creation of two sub-committees were the main items of business during Monday's first meeting of the Traffic Safety Support Group, a citizens group created by the Corsicana City Commission to provide suggestions for possible ways to make driving safer in Corsicana.

Hank Zander was elected the organization's chairman. He will serve a one-year term in that capacity, as will Vicechairman Gus Gappelberg and Secretary-Treasurer Scott Wylie, who were also selected at the meeting called by Corsicana's Traffic Safety Coordinator Guy Rushin. Rushin opened the meeting with a brief description of the new group and said since this is one of the pilot programs in Texas—the only state to have such a program—members will have a chance "to contribute something to the entire nation." characterized the gathering as a "grass-roots group," as opposed to the Public Official's Coordinating Committee which takes ideas from the citizen's group and investigates ways of implementing the proposals and sending its recommendations to city officials. In fact, according to Rushin, the citizens group will be "the one actually doing the work."

IT WAS IN ORDER to begin some of this work that the committee organized its first two sub-committees, one of which will investigate the possibilities of having a motorcycle safety program and the other of which will meet with a similar group from the officials committee to determine priorities for railroad crossing signals.

The motorcycle investigating committee is composed of Wylie, Ray Goodman and Gerald Atkeisson. This group will see what can be done toward implementing a driver safety program for cyclists similar to driver education programs for automobile drivers.

Another main topic of discussion for this group will be how the city can best deal with the problem of the many underaged cyclists who are currently on the streets. State law requires motorcyclists to be at least 15 years of age, and Goodman reported that it is also illegal for mini-bikes to operate on streets. Mayor Sue Youngblood told the gathering she believes current city policy toward young motorcyclists is that they are not ticketed unless they violate traffic laws or are involved in accidents. She suggested the committee check with Police Chief Don Massey for verification of this and for additional information concerning the problem.

SCHEDULED TO MEET with members of the Public Officials sub-committee on the problem of railroad crossings in Corsicana are Albert Sanders, Bobby Sparks and Jack Smith.

Vice-chairman Gappelberg asked this group to be sure to investigate the possibility of City liability connected with the installation of new railroad warning signs by the City. He said he had heard that McKinney had become involved in a law suit due to a similar instance of installing signs provided by railroad.

Gappelberg was also insistent in his request that the City take some form of action to force the Cotton Belt to provide an underpass on business Highway 75 to alleviate traffic jams caused by trains and to provide access to the east side of town in case of an emergency such as a fire or a heart attack.

He stressed the point that Corsicana is "a rolling community on the railroad" because of the amount of freight shipped daily from town, adding that he is in favor of Chamber of Commerce president Don Bowen's suggestion that all freight trains going through Corsicana be limited to 20 cars. His sentiments were echoed in part by Sparks, who told the group he favors using the $26,000 the city is planning to spend on installing one new signal light crossing as the beginning of a fund to construct an underpass itself.

SPARKS, SANDERS AND SMITH—who is a railroad attorney-will meet with Paul Slaughter, Jack London, Delma Ware, Dick Ballenger, Charlie Tieman and Highway Patrol Sergeant J.F. Scott Thursday to further discuss the setting of priorities for railroad crossing signal lights. This meeting, which was originally scheduled for Wednesday, has been tentatively set for Thursday at 2 p.m. in Rushin's office.

The committee okayed a proposal to place a form in The Sun which citizens can fill out and mail to the traffic safety office indicating areas of town which are particularly hazardous to drivers. Rushin said this information coupled with records indicating where the most traffic accidents occur will help the organization to formulate proposals.

Rushin also reported that the City will shortly replace all existing regulatory traffic signs in town in order to have them comply with national standards. He said state funds will pay for half of the expenses incurred in this project, which will see Corsicana operating with the international visual signs well before the 1978 deadline.

Blooming Grove Methodists Visit Graves, Note History

By JIM BUSH Golden Circle Reporter

BLOMING GROVE — A crowd eventually totaling nearly 200 gathered here last night to celebrate the 100th birthday of the Blooming Grove United Methodist Church.

The centennial program began with a visit to the Church's original location on the border of White Church Cemetery south of town. Rev. John F. Clifford, present pastor of the Methodist Church, opened the commemorative service.

Mrs. Ruth Ramsey, head of the centennial committee which planned the program, gave a history of the location, and graves of early church members, builders and founders were decorated.

CHURCH PREDECESSORS recognized included W. D. grady, who helped build the first church and sold the land where the present church is located; Dr. J.M. Davis, whjo also helped build the first church; and Richard Gowan, who donated land for the "White Church"—so named because it was painted white—and cemetery.

14 graves were decorated in the Gowan plot, where members of the Hodge, Young and Thomason families are also buried. Another decorated was that of Paralee Crabtree, one of the church's founding members.

Special guests at the dedication were former pastors of the church Rev. James Peppers, who conceived yjr idea of a centennial, and Rev. Paul Roane, who followed

LIONS Want To Improve Fairgrounds

BY JIM BUSH Golden Circle Reporter

FAIRFIELD—The Fathers of Fairfield Tuesday transacted primarily routine business. As during the last several meetings, a secret session was called to conclude the meeting.

Mayor B.G. Capps reported $5,659 in revenue sharing money has been received as Fairfield's share for the first half of 1973. Royce Caddell and Tommy Campbell, who appeared before the Council representing the Fairfield Lions Club, were advised to contact the County Fair Committee in seeking permission to place playground equipment on the fairgrounds.

Caddell explained the Lion's originally planned to locate the equipment in a park across the highway from the fairgrounds, but parents expressed concern over children having to cross the highway from the grounds to the park. The Lions feel it is desirable to have the fairgrounds, baseball field and playground in one location.

The playground would include two picnic tables, two barbecue pits, two swing sets, a climbing maze, and see-saws, with more items to be added later. These would be donated to the City, Caddell explained.

City Attorney Hugh Reed Jr. told the Lions representatives the City cannot give the Club permission to use the land, because it is the Moody reunion grounds and is under the jurisdiction of the Fair Committee. The land could not be "owned" by the Lions, Reeed

The City Attorney also said the City would need to determine if it should have insurance to cover the playground.

The Lion representatives also informed the Council that the Club has made arrangements with the Little League Association to take over maintenance, utilities and concession stands at the baseball park. The Lions Club hopes to put a fence around the field, install restrooms, and make other improvements over a neriod of two years.

tennial participants moved to the present United Methodist Church in Blooming Grove, where Rev. Peppers explained how he was inspired to institute the centennial. The idea began while he was studying the lives of two outstanding Methodist preachers who began their ministries at the Blooming Grove Church.

In 1965, while researching the lives of Clovis Chappel—a famous orator and preacher of Methodism and author of many books-and E.B. Hawks-who became a dean of SMU-Rev. Peppers discovered the church was nearing its 100th year of "recorded" history. He began research on the Church, and Rev. Roane, who was the next pastor of the Church, continued the idea by naming the centennial committee.

Research done by the committee led to the writing of an 81-page history of the church. Copies of the book were presented to honor guests Monday night. Mrs. Ramsey also presented certificates of appreciation to those directly associated with assembling the history book and planning the centennial.

Those who received certificates include the previously mentioned pastors and Judith Gillen Saunders, who typed the book; Carolyn McCormick Gilbert, who runished artwork;

Wants To Keep NCT Alliance

DAWSON — The Dawson City Council has voted to notify the Department of Planning Coordination for the Governor's office that Dawson prefers Navarro County be placed in the Heart of Texas Council of Governments, rather than remain in the North Texas Council.

But at least one Dawson citizen, C.M. Newton Jr., disagrees with the move.

In a letter addressed to "Members of the City Council," Newton, who is president of the First National Bank in Dawson, lists four basic reasons why he believes Navarro County should remain aligned with NTCOG.

Number one on his list is that "Our Congressman is elected in the counties represented" by the North Texas Council. Second, Newton says, "Funds allocated are upon the basis of population and the NTCOG receives the most funds of any of the other Council of Govern-

In his letter to the Daswon Council, Newton expressed the opinion that "a representative of Navarro County upon the Council of Governments has come to odds with other members, which was and is a grievous error upon his part in representing us." Newton added that NTCOG, however, "will not let one bad apple ruin the barrel."

As a fourth reason for staying in NTCOG, Newton said Dawson needs help and has received help and benefits from the North Texas Council. "Our. water supply comes from the Trinity watershed," he points out, "and any other Council of Governments we could belong to would be in the Brazos watershed."

Newton concludes his letter by urging the Dawson City Fathers to "think wise and support and be a part of NT-

New faces are showing themselves regularly on the Navarro County law enforcement scene. Three people have recently been hired by Navarro County Sheriff Jerry Shelton.

J. P. Hodge Jr., 33, of Chatfield, began work July 7 as a deputy. Hodge worked as a truck driver with Yellow Freight Systems of Dallas before beginning duties here. He is a graduate of CHS and NJC. He replaces Michael Hardy, who worked in the Department for a short time.

The addition of Hodge brings the total to seven deputies in the Sheriff's Department. Charles E. Hill of Blooming Grove is the newest jailer for the County. He is a retired master sergeant in the Air Force. Hill says it looks like he's going to enjoy his work here. He began July 1.

One of his sons is Bill Hill, the juvenile probation officer for Navarro County. His other son is a Blooming Grove banker.

John Ross, 412 West Fifth Ave., a retired schoolteacher, is the newest court baliff and civil deputy. He is the man who delivers civil papers—such as lawsuits and divorce papers—to county residents.

Texas Hog Producers Join In... Cattle and Calves Marketed Show Increase . . . Above Normal Grazing. Texas, which is currently 14th in the nation in hog production, is showing a 19 per cent decline in numbers of hogs on farms as of June 1. Nationwide, the number is also down, but by only one per cent. Hogs kept for breeding purposes on Texas farms totaled 150,000 head, down 18 per cent from a year ago. Market hogs and pigs totaled 810,000 head, down 19 per cent from last year, Hog farmers in Texas intend to farrow 102,000 sows from now through November; this will be 11 per cent less than farrowings for this period last year. Reasons for the decline include the increased costs of feed and the fact that retail prices are frozen.

The December-May pig crop totaled 729,000 in Texas. This is 18 per cent below the 1972 December-May pig crop. Pigs per litter averaged 7.29 compared to 7.50 last

Hogs producers intend to farrow 6,000,000 sows now through November, which is virtually unchanged. If intentions are realized and projected pigs per litter are reached, the pig crop will be 43,600,000 head, up one per

SALES of cattle and calves as well as sheep and goats at auction markets in Texas show an increase compared to a year ago. Hog sales are down from year ago levels, the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes. Cattle and calves marketed through auctions during May numbered 731,000 head, 26 per cent above a year ago, and 70 per cent above a month ago. Sheep sales at livestock auctions during May at 230.000 head were 37 per cent above a year ago and 191 per cent above a month ago. Goats sold during May at 36,000 head were 24 per cent above last year and 20 per Hogs sold during May at 41,000 head were 25 per cent below a year ago, but 21 per cent above a month ago.

EXCELLENT moisture conditions over most of Texas are maintaining ranges and pastures in above normal grazing conditions. Livestock condition is good to excellent. Horn flies and ticks have been bothering livestock but weight losses have not been severe. Rains have ruined some curing hay in East Texas but prospects for third and fourth cuttings are outstanding.

Screwworm outbreaks over the state are minimal compared to a year ago when the screwworm situation was completely out of control. Livestock producers are reminded to continue to submit suspected screwworm samples to the fly laboratory at Mission.

VEGETABLE crops are making good progress in the Hereford-High Plains-Panhandle areas, Moderate shipments of potatoes and onions are now underway with heavier supplies expected during the latter half of July.

A market news office has been opened in Hereford.

Dear Aunt Louise,

Who ever invented arithmetic? I believe his name should go down in history as the greatest villain since Genghis Khan! Why should innocent children who have never even stepped on a bug be put through such misery? Nightmares recurred in childhood and otimes to this day of the ner pointing a ruler at me and saying, "If John had 3 apples, his brother Will had 8, his sister Mary had 6 and his Uncle Fred 14, how many would John have if all of them gave him one-18th of theirs plus the number of teeth Jane lost when she fell out of the tree?"

In my first year of college, in a trigonometry class, I sat and stared at a blackboard while a Mr. Slocum scribbled numbers on it explaining to the class his message in what, to me, might as well have been in Swahili!

After a number of days I was asked to stay after class. In the hopes the young instructor had taken a liking to me I happily tarried after the others had left. "I want to ask you a personal question," he said, looking down at his feet. Trying hard to look seductive and older, I put on my best seductive and older expression and answered sweetly, "Yes, of course." His question: "Tell me, how did you ever get out of High School?"

I HAVE BEEN PONDERING that question ever since and although it was a mystery to him it is a greater one to me, for I do not remember learning anything of value inside those walls. The teachers can not be held responsible, for the blame rests solely upon my pointed head. I thought the school was a social gathering of people my own age trying to see how much they could get by with. (Never end a sentence with a preposition.) So much for English.

After fur years of French, lead the class in singing 'F'rere Jacque'' and placing my books "sur la table" I managed to greet a Madamoiselle in New York with "Bon Jour" In search of a modeling job, of which she was in position to grant me, I had wished to impress her with my sophistication. She looked at me, raised her eyebrows hautily and said, "I will give you the job if you promise to speak no French, please, yes?" The Texas accent did nothing for the pronunciation and I learned years later while in Paris that what I had studied in Oak Cliff High had nothing to do with communicating with the natives of France. So much for French.

Study Hall was my favorite subject. This period of the day was a dreamer's paradise, for here one could hold a book and pretend to read while the mind scampered off in diverse and exotic places. (Gary Cooper and

There was an incident that stands out in memory regarding a certain instructor named Miss Welborn, Old Lady Welborn we called her, although she was probably 30 at the most. She was small, rather pretty and resembled "Tillie the Toiler" in the funny paper except for the thick-lensed glasses. She never, but never smiled, obviously bored to death with us. History was the subject and it unfortunately came right after lunch period and the combination of the monotony of her sing song voice and the full stomachs, the overwhelming desire to yield to the temptation of napping was inevitable. Sitting bolt upright many times we would drift off into the world of dreams and if she had asked any one of us when the war of 1812 was fought we would not have been able to answer. Her frustration must have been maddening! Our grades reflected the futility of the whole miserable set-up and I suspected our indifference was

ONE SPRING DAY as she was droning along, monologue was interrupted by a monitor delivering a message which necessitated that she leave the room. After she had closed the door behind herself the class erupted into a cacophony of giggles and epithets and feet shuffling about. She was out of the room for a full fifteen minutes, causing us to become apprehensive and when she opened the door and took her place we knew something very unusual was about to happen. We watched open-mouthed as she took her purse and other items out of the desk drawers. No one dared even whisper. Then she slowly came in front of the desk and leaning slightly on the edge of it said, "I shall be leaving you in a few minutes." Her face was flushed, her glasses were all fogged up and she was actually smiling! She ook a deep breath and added in

Rotarians Eye Tough Commodities Market

By GARY EDMONDSON Sun Staff Writer

Robert Joel Taylor, chairman of the trade selection committee of the Enterex Commodities Corp. of Garland and originator of that company's major price trend directional indicator, discussed at the Wednesday noon meeting of the Rotary Club some of the ins and outs of the commodity market. The main point Taylor tried to convey to the group is the speculative and risky nature of the commodity market as opposed to the stock market. The 'very speculative' nature of the market means that an investor either "makes a lot or loses a lot," according to Taylor.

Taylor went on to explain that any time an investor does make money it means someone else loses on the commodity market. He likened the trading to poker where the winners become winners on the losers money. To continue the analogy, Taylor added that, as in most poker circles, there are consistent winners and consistent losers on

Memorial Releases 546 Patients in June

In June Memorial Hospital dismissed 546 patients from 54 towns including one from out of state—a patient from Raton. N.M.—according to the Medical Records office. Of this total, 274—more than half—were from Corsicana.

Other towns and the number from each included: Ennis 51; Fairfield 18; Kerens 22; Athens 16; Blooming Grove 14; Malakoff and Mexia each had 11; Frost and Kemp each had 9; Trinidad 8; Purdon 7; Dawson, Hillsboro, Houston, Mabank, Teague, Waxahachie and Wortham each had 5; Bardwell, Buffalo, Mertens and Navarro each had 4; Emhouse, Hubbard, Italy, Milford, Streetman and Waco had 3 each; and Chatfield and Oakwood each had 2. Towns from which one patient was dismissed for the month were Austin, Barry, Centerville, Dallas, Dumas, Groesbeck, Grand Prairie, Hutchins, Irving, Jewell, Kaufman, Kosse, LaRue, Nacogdoches, Palmer, Pasadena, Powell, Richland, Tehuacana, Terrell, Tyler and Winnsboro.

BUT THE SCARCITY of winners (About 80 per cent lose.) means that the losers average losses of about $350 while those who play the market right clear over $1,000 per unit. Taylor even identified the usual losers: the small or inexperienced speculator who buys anticipating future gains.

These unknowledgeable types who continue to lose on the commodity market do so because of their reluctance to sell when the price starts falling, according to Taylor, who said it takes a special type of person to successfully handle the commodity market. The two requirements he noted as essential to success are the availability of speculative capital and the "temperament" to be able to stand the loss of up to $3,000 in one day of trading.

Admitting that most people are unfamiliar with the commodity market, Taylor opened his presentation by relating it to the stock market: everybody could possibly win or break even on the stock exchange but not in the commodity market. Stock market investors plan for 20 to 30 per cent profits over the course of a year instead of the big profits of the commodity market. Last year the commodity market did $183 billion worth of business on about 20 items while the New York Stock Exchange's business amounted to $106 billion on over 20,000

SOME OF THE BIG commodities this year, according to Taylor are soybeans, which could have turned a $10,000 investment at the first of the year into over one million dollars by now, and cocoa and hogs. Commodities that have been particularly risky so far this year are eggs, wheat and platinum.

Taylor also gave each of the Rotarians several brochures explaining the major price trend directional indicator which he originated and which his company uses to deal on the commodity market. With him at the meeting was Fred Eastland. who will be operating a branch of Enterex Commodities Corp. in Corsicana.

Also visiting the Rotarians was Corsicana High School principal Mark Culwell.
